Do you enjoy working with Esri's ArcGIS product line? Are you looking for the opportunity to design and maintain geospatial mobile and web apps? At Starker Forests, you get to do this in support of the entire company's forestry operation. We are working toward the goal of integrating modern GIS tools and IT platform improvements into our workflows and developing solutions to improve the reporting and analysis of our operations.

At Starker Forests, we pride ourselves in our forest management practices that focus on longer rotation ages, commercial thinning, and active vegetation management to allow our trees to thrive in ideal conditions. Our forests are certified by the American Tree Farm System and provide clean water, wildlife habitat, free recreation, and wood products to the communities in which we operate. As a bonus, our 90,000 acres of forestland are primarily located within an hour of our office based near Corvallis, Oregon.

Corvallis is the home of the Beavers - Oregon State University is just minutes away from our office. Corvallis is a small city with endless activities. Downtown features shops, restaurants, breweries, and fitness facilities of many varieties. In the summer, you can float the Willamette River, hit the bike trails, spend time at our many parks, or relax at nearby wineries. We also couldn't have a more central location. The Eugene airport is just an hour south, Portland is two hours north, the Oregon Coast is an hour west, and prime skiing and snowboarding is just two hours east.

Starker Forests is a family-owned company that has been in business for 86 years. Starker Forests is strongly committed to giving back to the community as well as sharing our land for recreation. Anyone can call our office and receive a free entry permit. Nearly all our property is open to the public for recreation such as hunting, hiking, walking, mountain biking, and horseback riding. Throughout the year, our public education team host forest tours for all ages, including elementary school field trips, to share our philosophies of stewardship and active forest management.

Does this sound as exciting to you as it does to us? Good! Read on to find out if your qualifications align with our needs and discover the comprehensive benefits we offer. We look forward to hearing from you!
